Subject: Free Mark Salzman Books for Students
Date: Sep 8, 2011 11:17:18 AM

Students: Receive a free copy of Mark Salzman's "Iron and Silk", "True Notebooks" or "Lying Awake" in the Bakersfield College Library starting at 9 a.m. today.

Mark Salzman is the 2011 Bakersfield College Dolores Cerro Author Series author and will give two presentations at Bakersfield College on Tuesday, October 11.

"Iron and Silk" describes his experience teaching English and studying under a Kung Fu master in China, and was nominated for a Pulitzer Prize. "True Notebooks: A Writer's Year at Juvenile Hall" describes the time he spent teaching writing to young violent offenders. The last selection is a novel entitled "Lying Awake" about a cloistered nun's spiritual crisis.

The Bakersfield College Library has purchased copies of his books to be distributed FREE to STUDENTS beginning at 9 am on Wednesday, September 14th in the library (upstairs) and on the Delano campus. The books will be available on a first-come, first served basis. We will provide only one book per student, and students will be asked to verify their student status. Copies of the books will also be available for sale at the presentations.

Salzman will give three presentations for the BC community in the Fireside Room at 10, 2 and 6:30. He has titled his presentation "Fall Down Seven Times, Get Up Eight: Chapters from the Writing Life", as he will discuss the nature of the writing process.
